"The hoop pote" man of Grant county—
the would be tongressman—who had perched himself on the stand, actually had the impulcace to get up and make what he called a speech. It was only through charity that he was permitted to finish.

Viewed as a historian, Mr. Hogan cervice leave the had for some months led a wild life with a notorious lorotte, but ahandoned her with the loss, it was said, of haif of his fortune, and sought the hand of the marriage. But noblemen, especially the Continental ones, are slippery fellows. Paris lite seems that to constancy. It was towed as a historian, Mr. Hogan certain like have been composed by the sum of peer, for he informed us that of his forture, and sought the hand of the "Uncle Joe Lane, of Oregon, hed our brave warriors across the sumup plains of Mexico in 1812." Mr. Hogan has evidently mistaken his appropriate stage of action. Nature never intended him for a speaker. He had better go back to first principles, and when his locations are composed to the sumup lady, challenged him, a brother of the young lady, challenged him, and the composed him that the Count with the Count of the young lady, challenged him, and the sumup lady challenged him. whopt his legitimate occupt ion as a Jehu. that a duel was tought, and that the Conninct confine himself to driving spavined horses fell grievously wounded, and was at Aix lance measures, instead of trying to drive inthigent beings into the support of J.
